LUMBER CLAUSE IN NEW TRADE TREATY STIRS DEBATE

RAILWAYMEN'S WAGES VOTE IS TABULATED

Possibility of Strike Throughout Canada Discussed During Count in Montreal

Men Who Voted Total 30,000

Chairmen of Groups of Running Trades Will Announce Result Soon

Canadian Press
Montreal, Sept. 25.—A strike in the railway running trades was being discussed among union men to-day as their chairmen began tabulating the result of a ballot to decide whether the 30,000 members throughout Canada would accept a second ten per cent cut in wages.

Several days will be taken in tabulating the vote and a date will then be decided when the result will be officially placed before the vice-presidents of the five running trades unions.

One ten per cent raise cut has already been imposed by the employers and is still a matter of dispute. The present vote is in connection with a proposal for a second cut.

In the meantime the Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks is preparing its case to be presented to a board of conciliation which will meet to-morrow.

Actual balloting by the men was completed about ten days ago.

SAFES ROBBED IN VANCOUVER

Canadian Press
Vancouver, Sept. 25.—Safe-crackers forced their way into three safes in different offices here over the weekend. They obtained approximately $10,000 in cash and cheques at the Queen's Hotel, the Commercial Union Bank, and the office of the Lion's Club.

The safe in the latter office was owned by Wilson & Loughhead, investment company, and was being used for the safekeeping of the company's funds.

Things also smashed into a safe in the offices of Bud Omstead Ltd.

Geneva, Sept. 25.—Disarmament conversations were understood to-day to be yielding fruit.

Behind the scenes at the fourteenth Assembly of the League of Nations opened, the United Kingdom was in active negotiation with the French, Germans and Italians, seeking a concord which would permit conclusion of some agreement on control and eventual reduction of armaments.

The feeling in British circles was one of optimism. This was based on the ground both Germany and France want conclusion of a disarmament convention, and furthermore greatly improved relations between France and Italy are regarded as offering great hope, in view of Italy's recognized influence with Nazi Germany.

The United Kingdom and delegations from the Dominions conferred this afternoon, when the British delegation (Turn to Page 2, Col. 7)

MISS ENGLAND III DAMAGED BY FIRE

Canadian Press
Poole, Dorset, Eng., Sept. 25.—While knifing the water at more than ninety miles an hour, the Miss England III, Hubert Scott-Paine's motorboat, just returned from Detroit, caught fire yesterday.

Scott-Paine and his mechanic were not injured, but the former's clothes were scorched by flames from the motor.

The British speed enthusiast was trying to lower Great Britain's sea mile record and the unofficial world record for single-engined motorboats. He had made five runs over the course, and turned to the pier to refuel, went out and made three more runs when flames shot from the rear of the craft.

Balloon Prepared for Stratosphere Flight

Chicago, Sept. 25.—Lieut. Commander R. G. W. Settle plans to make a new attempt to reach the stratosphere, probably within ten days. The flight is scheduled to start from the grounds of the Century of Progress Exposition.

The pictures above show Lieut. Commander Settle in the gondola and with a companion beside it. The diagram indicates the scientific instruments and ballast are placed in the gondola. Lieut. Commander Settle took off about two months ago, but a faulty valve caused trouble and the balloon came down after rising only a short distance.

Son Heard Father Tell Syme To Get Out of Yard

Witnesses Testify of Party Which Ended in Fatality at Island Town

Special to The Times
Ladysmith, Sept. 25.—Further details of the drinking party which preceded the death of R. Douglas Syme, Ladysmith youth, on the night of September 7, were unfolded this morning at the preliminary hearing of Louis Poulain, a Belgian, who is charged with the murder of the young man.

Stipendiary Magistrate Ira E. Lowe is conducting the hearing with F. S. Cunliffe as crown prosecutor, and Arthur Leighton, Nanaimo, acting for the defendant.

C. H. Petrick, road superintendent, was the first witness, his evidence dealing with the location of Poulain's home and the spot where Syme was found fatally stabbed.

Dr. G. P. Hennington, the next witness, said he was called to Poulain's home at 11:05 o'clock on the night of the tragedy. Twenty-five yards from the Poulain home he saw the body of Syme on French Street and ten yards from the body saw Mr. and Mrs. Poulain.

Several children asked Poulain if Syme was drunk, and Poulain replied, "No, I think he's dead," witness said.

Dr. Hennington examined the body and found a stab wound in the left chest. He told Poulain not to disturb the body until the police arrived.

C. G. Palmer Oldest Survivor of Lucknow

Duncan Resident Remembers Famous Siege; Took Place Seventy-six Years Ago

The horrible Siege of Lucknow, which took place seventy-six years ago to-day, is well-remembered by Charles George Palmer of Duncan, oldest member of the group of nine survivors, who will celebrate his eighty-sixth birthday on October 15. To-day he is reminiscing with friends over the frightful events that took place and the long anxious hours of waiting that were spent by the members of the English garrison.

Although he was only ten years of age at the time, Mr. Palmer vividly recalls the events that took place. It was truly one of those things that one "remembers as long as I live."

Born on October 15, 1847, Mr. Palmer is hale and hearty to-day and visitors who meet him for the first time, find it hard to believe that he has nearly reached his eighty-sixth year. Up until a year ago he daily drove his automobile

Several points in the Peace River district also reported snow.

Falling temperatures accompanied the storm, the mercury registering 32.

Germans And Jews At Geneva

Geneva, Sept. 25.—Whatever its weaknesses, the League of Nations is a great leveler. Dr. Goebbels, right hand man of German Chancellor Adolf Hitler, foe of the Jews, with Konstantin von Neurath, German Foreign Minister, leading the way, took a seat in the front row of delegates immediately below the speakers' tribune. Immediately behind the Germans sat the Austrians. And among the Austrians as a substitute delegate sat a Jewish rabbi.

WILL OUTLINE BODY'S PLANS

New Friendly Help Welfare Association to Hold Meeting of Supporters Thursday

Drive for Finances Will Be Conducted in City From October 14 to 21

Organization of the new Friendly Help Welfare Association, which represents an amalgamation of the old Friendly League, will be explained to a meeting of supporters which will be held in the Chamber of Commerce auditorium on Thursday evening at 8 o'clock.

Prominent social workers of Vancouver who have been invited to attend, will probably address the meeting.

The supporters will also be told of the association's plans for an extensive drive for finances in Victoria, from October 14 to 21. Details of the meeting and the drive were announced at an executive meeting of the association this morning under the chairmanship of P. E. Winslow, president.

The purpose of the meeting Thursday evening is to enlarge the membership of the new organization, and between 400 and 500 interested workers will attend.

Applications for membership will be distributed and it is hoped by the executive that there will be a wholehearted response from the meeting as every effort is being made to organize the new body along as efficient lines as possible.

NEW SECRETARY
Miss Elizabeth Grubb of Vancouver, who will be the general secretary for the new local organization, has been invited to attend and also J. Howard T. Falk, executive director of the Vancouver Council of Social Agencies. Miss Grubb's duties will commence here early in October.

Lieut. Governor Johnson and Mayor Leeming and other prominent civic officials and citizens will be asked to attend.

In undertaking the financial drive the board points out that the association is practically unable to carry on without further support—and hopes that the public will readily lend its assistance towards the continuance of this work which is deemed so necessary in the city at this time.

The association has the support of leading welfare workers of the city and it is decided to request the ministry to support the appeal to be made.

The start is set for 8 o'clock.

Norman Whittaker, Liberal candidate in Saanich, will open in Marigold Hall to-morrow evening at 8 o'clock. Mr. Reid and Mr. Hart will appear with him as well. H. L. Briggs, president of the Saanich Liberal Association, will preside.

Vancouver, Sept. 25 (Canadian Press).—A forest of winter was felt in British Columbia over the week-end. Heavy snowfall was reported from Barkerville in the interior. In Vancouver the mercury dropped to thirty-seven degrees yesterday evening.

SNOW FALLS IN EDMONTON DISTRICT
Edmonton, Sept. 25.—Sweeping down from the northwest on the wings of a biting wind, snow started to fall in the Edmonton district to-day. By 9 o'clock nearly a quarter of an inch had fallen and the storm was continuing.

Reports received here indicate the storm was fairly general. Several points in the Peace River district also reported snow.

Falling temperatures accompanied the storm, the mercury registering 32.

Mr. Bowser explained that if he is nominated on the Victoria ticket he may run in both Victoria and Vancouver Centre, in Vancouver Centre he is scheduled to run with William Dick as his running mate.

B. C. Exporters Gaining While Britain Discusses New Pact With Russia

Improved Marketing Methods Bring Advantages for Mills of This Province in Market in United Kingdom

Strong Efforts For Soviet Exports

London, Sept. 25.—Negotiations for a new Anglo-Soviet trade agreement are expected to be resumed this week after a delay caused by consultation of Soviet representatives with Moscow.

Board of Trade committees which have been dealing with problems of the balance of trade, credits and the form of the proposed treaty, probably will meet soon, it was learned to-day.

Negotiations have proceeded slowly, partly in view of an issue raised by Canadian exporters who desire a clause relating to Russian lumber.

DESPERATE EFFORT
London, Sept. 25.—A desperate effort will shortly be made to keep the British market open as a dumping ground for unrestricted exports of Russian timber.

It will take the form of a statement to be submitted ostensibly on behalf of the British timber industry to the Tariff Advisory Committee now considering the claims of the Canadian lumber industry for protection.

The statement is expected to urge that Canadian timber is not suited to the needs of the British market and that Canadian exports could be increased by improvement in marketing methods.

B.C. GAINING
Vancouver, Sept. 25.—Opinion in the lumber industry here to-day was to the effect that Soviet timber is feeling the pinch of British Columbia competition under already improved marketing methods. This was brought forth according to Major-General A. G. L. McNaughton, chief of staff at Ottawa. Relief Commission officials expect official notification from Ottawa shortly.

Great progress is reported to have been made in removing differences over specifications.

NEW CONTROL FOR RELIEF CAMPS

Calgary, Sept. 25.—A single unemployed relief camp on the Banff Highway, at present operated by the Alberta relief commission, will be taken over by the Department of National Defence, Ottawa, according to Major-General A. G. L. McNaughton, chief of staff at Ottawa. Relief Commission officials expect official notification from Ottawa shortly.

JURIST DIES IN ONTARIO
Mr. Justice W. E. Raney Formerly Was Attorney-General of Province

Toronto, Sept. 25.—Mr. Justice W. E. Raney of the Supreme Court of Ontario, one-time Attorney-General of Ontario in the Progressive government of Hon. E. C. Drury, died here yesterday after a brief illness.

Mr. Justice Raney, who was seventy-four years old, suffered a heart attack last June, but was believed to have recovered almost completely. He became seriously ill Saturday and doctors described his condition as critical then.

He is survived by a widow and two sons, Fraser and Allan, both of Toronto. The funeral will be held to-morrow. Rev. Dr. George Pidgeon, personal friend of the jurist for thirty-five years, will conduct the service.

The illness to which Mr. Justice Raney succumbed forced his retirement from judicial duties last May. His death removed one of Ontario's most ardent temperance workers.

DENIES INJUNCTION TO STOP EXCHANGE

Newark, N.J., Sept. 25.—Vice-Chancellor Alfred J. Stein to-day denied an application of the City Centre Corporation for a permanent injunction restraining the City of Newark from leasing the Centre Market to the New Jersey Stock Exchange, formerly the New York Stock Exchange.

The decision clears the way for work, already begun, to prepare the market building for use by the exchange October 2.

STUDY TERMS OF TRADE PACT

British Consider Canadian Lumber Interests in Negotiating With Russia

Canadian Press—Halifax, Sept. 25.—The Government of Great Britain is studying the terms of a trade agreement with Russia until it has been assured that the interests of Canada's lumber industry have been protected, according to W. K. McKean, president of the Nova Scotia Lumbermen's Association. McKean returned to Halifax after a series of conferences with federal authorities at Ottawa.

With other prominent Canadian lumbermen, Mr. McKean conferred with Prime Minister Bennett with respect to increasing Canada's lumber market in Great Britain. As the outcome of the conference, the eastern branch of the Canadian Lumbermen's Association has asked W. E. Goulding, Saint John to go to England in an advisory capacity to the British Government, before signing of the Russian trade treaty.

CROWD RIOTS IN MONTREAL

Canadian Press—Montreal, Sept. 25.—Sticks and stones were hurled and windows smashed during a riot in a crowded Montreal street today. A general alarm brought all available police to the scene. No arrests were made, but police patrolled the streets in the vicinity for some hours, keeping up incessant fights and moving the rival factions on.

Police learned seventy-five young men, armed with sticks and stones, were in the vicinity of the riot. The rioters, who were dressed in black, white, and green, were seen to be in the vicinity of the riot.

MESSAGE SENT BUT NOT READ

But Contents of Otto Hapsburg's Letter on Monarchy for Austria Leak Out

Associated Press—Hain, Austria, Sept. 25.—Urgent orders from Geneva halted yesterday the scheduled reading of a message of Prince Otto of Hapsburg laying down important principles of a monarchist policy for Austria.

A crowd of monarchist adherents from this town and two others which recently voted honorary citizenship to Prince Otto, gathered to see Duke Max von Hohenberg, son of the assassinated Archduke Franz Ferdinand, hand Otto's personal letters of thanks to the burgomasters of the three towns.

He was also to read what monarchist leaders characterized as "most important declarations of policy" from Prince Otto.

A few minutes before the beginning of an urgent telephone message to Von Hohenberg from Geneva had upset the plans and that "in order not to embarrass Chancellor Dollfus at Geneva" not even the text of the letters given the burgomasters would be made public.

The texts of the individual letters given the burgomasters leaked out with customary rapidity. The message Von Hohenberg intended to deliver was an exposition of points already much discussed in Vienna concerning Prince Otto's advocacy of a constitutional monarchy for Austria with the return of the Hapsburgs to the throne.

U.S. NEEDY MAY BE GIVEN COAL

Associated Press—Washington, Sept. 25.—President Roosevelt is considering the advisability of adding federal coal distribution to the United States Government's enlarged program for feeding and clothing destitute families.

MORE EMPLOYED NOW IN FRANCE

Survey Shows Industrial Improvement; 12 Per Cent Drop in Relief Cases

By George Hambleton, Canadian Press Staff Writer

Paris, Sept. 25.—The ebbing tide of French industry has reached the turn, a survey shows. For the eighth successive week official returns show employment is growing.

The week ending September 16 showed a drop of 12 per cent in the number of unemployed receiving relief as compared with last week, and this despite the fact that local relief funds operating in 1933 number 608 against 595 a year ago. The total of registered unemployed is given as 231,487 but this figure covers only those receiving direct relief.

Yet while growing employment reveals slowly brightening industrial skies French exporters are in alarm. In a memorandum addressed to Premier Edouard Daladier the French exporting industries, meeting on the initiative of the National Association for Economic Expansion, urgently press for new markets abroad.

The exporters claim they have suffered most by the crisis. In four years, their memorandum says, French exports have dropped by 30,000,000,000 francs.

The climax of the efforts of the world to solve its wheat problem is shown above. At Canada House in London twenty-one nations signed an agreement to limit export and otherwise regulate world production. Left to right, above, are Frederick E. Murphy, representing the United States; Prime Minister Bennett of Canada (signing); Rt. Hon. Stanley Bruce of Australia, and a member of the Argentine delegation. Tomas de Breton signed the pact a few days later for Argentina.

Marinus Van Der Lubbe Off Hunger Strike; Reichstag Fire Trial Progressing

Bitter Exchanges Heard Between Judge and Georgi Dimitroff, Defendant

Associated Press—Leipzig, Germany, Sept. 25.—Marinus Van Der Lubbe was reported by his attorney to be completely recovered to-day from the effects of a three-day hunger strike which he began when put on trial here with four others charged with setting fire to the German Reichstag building. He took food Saturday evening and ate normally yesterday and today.

Fiery exchanges between the court and Georgi Dimitroff, Bulgarian refugee, during which he admitted he would have committed suicide during his imprisonment if given a chance, marked Saturday trial proceedings for the five men charged with setting fire to the building.

Both Dimitroff and Blagol Popoff, Bulgarian defendant who was placed on the stand, denied any connection with the blaze.

The remarks of the defendant, chief leader of the Bulgarian Communists, brought a threat from Justice Wilhelm Buenger of special measures "unless you moderate yourself."

WINNIPEG MAN SHOT IN OTTAWA

Canadian Press—Ottawa, Sept. 25.—Eustace A. Strong, twenty-five, of Winnipeg, shot in the right arm and chest in a rooming house here early today, was reported by hospital authorities to be resting comfortably, and his chances for recovery were good.

It was stated an operation would be performed in an effort to remove the bullet.

No arrest has yet been made. Police are searching the city, looking for a man who formerly lived in Winnipeg.

Strong, the police stated, was visited at his rooming house by an acquaintance from the west shortly before the shooting was done. A row ensued, followed by a shot being fired into Strong's right shoulder by the visitor, according to the police.

Strong came to Ottawa about a week ago from Winnipeg.

TWO BOYS ARE HELD FOR TRIAL

Canadian Press—Vancouver, Sept. 25.—Two boys, fifteen and fourteen years of age, were arrested yesterday on charges of automobile theft and attempted shopbreaking after being chased for several blocks by Detectives A. Stewart and D. W. Shearer. Shots were fired before they halted.

The officers, in a police car, were at Victoria Drive and Powell Street when they saw an automobile, which had been stolen from B. Smith at the North Vancouver ferry dock, and went in pursuit. The driver of the car eventually stopped the vehicle when the detectives fired several revolver shots.

Taken to police headquarters, the youths were identified as having attempted to break into a Main Street tobacco store a short time previous. They were taken to the detention home and held for appearance for trial in juvenile court.

Ratemakers Discuss Secession Plan

Canadian Press—West Vancouver, Sept. 25.—Discussion of the proposal to secede from the municipality and seek incorporation as a village under direct government control, failed to bring action at an organization meeting of Ward One Ratemakers' Association at the Horseshoe Bay Hotel Saturday evening. This issue has been left in abeyance for the time being.

SENATOR LONG'S HOME IS FIRED

Louisiana "Kingfish" Says "Firebugs" at Work; Two Fires at Home Saturday

Associated Press—New Orleans, Sept. 25.—Senator Huey P. Long charged today in a statement that three attempts had been made to burn down his home at Metairie, La., Saturday.

Two fires developed at his home early Saturday. Each time a policeman on the beat discovered the fire and called the fire department. The first fire started in a washroom and the other in the basement, doing damage estimated at $1,700.

A few months ago fire started in the senator's garage under his house and burned one of his automobiles.

"Men become as the Prince of Wales himself has said, 'sick at heart from prolonged idleness,' and the only remedy, he has reminded us, is that each and all of us should get together wherever the burden lies heaviest, face the most urgent local need, and see if the community on the spot cannot make its own self-directed contribution to a problem so vast and so urgent. That, on its solution, the very future of Canada may be said to depend."

WOULD IMPORT RUSSIAN COAL

Syndicate Also Wishes to Get Oil in Exchange for Cattle

Canadian Press—Montreal, Sept. 25.—Permission to import anthracite coal and oil from Russia is still being sought by a syndicate which wishes to export cattle in exchange for the two commodities, G. G. Serkau, Winnipeg lawyer, stated here.

Mr. Serkau, who arrived here from Ottawa, claimed no knowledge of the present opinion of the cabinet there on the possible resumption of trade with the Soviet, but expressed the belief some plan would be evolved to relieve the situation in the West, where there was, he said, a large surplus of cattle, with feed scarce.

No financing by the Canadian Government was sought, he said, as the necessary funds were already available from private sources. Permission to admit anthracite and oil from Russia alone constituted a barrier to the shipment of 100,000 head of Canadian cattle to Baltic ports.

Any anthracite admitted by Canada from Russia would displace the same product now being brought here from the United States, he said. No objection could be raised from an imperial preference point of view to importation of Soviet oil, he said, as no oil was imported from Great Britain.

LAWYERS' HEAD

Canadian Press—Ottawa, Sept. 25.—The head of a man who was shot in the right arm and chest in a rooming house here early today, was reported by hospital authorities to be resting comfortably, and his chances for recovery were good.

It was stated an operation would be performed in an effort to remove the bullet.

No arrest has yet been made. Police are searching the city, looking for a man who formerly lived in Winnipeg.

See Motion Changed Into Solid Matter

Scientists Say Photos of Radium Rays Show Miracle of Creation

By Howard W. Blakelee, Associated Press Staff Writer

Pasadena, Cal., Sept. 25.—Experiments showing pure motion apparently changing into solid matter—indicating that for the first time man actually has seen the miracle of creation of matter—are described in the latest reports of several world-famous radiation laboratories.

Principally they come from the California Institute of Technology here and from Cambridge, England. The young physicists who made the discovery confine their reports to describing facts verified by photographs. But their co-workers in other laboratories say it is the first linking of creation of matter.

Stated in its simplest terms, the story is that fast-flying radium rays are converted into electrical particles. No motion, or nearly none, is left. Each ray is transformed into particles, one the negatively charged electron, the other the positively charged. These two kinds of electrical, positive and negative, science believes, compose every kind of solid matter from man to stars.

One kind of electricity is not sufficient to make matter. It takes both positive and negative to do that. Both these electrical particles from the radium rays are of equal mass of weight. This weight is that of the electron, the smallest fundamental particle of matter so far discovered.

GORNALL GETS LONDON POST

Named Canadian Fruit Commissioner to Great Britain

Canadian Press—Ottawa, Sept. 25.—W. B. Gornall, Ottawa, has been named Canadian fruit commissioner to Great Britain. Announcement of the appointment was made here.

The new appointee will take up his post in London shortly in the interests of the development of the Canadian fruit trade in the British Isles. His services will be under the Department of Trade and Commerce. The post carries with it an initial annual salary of $4,000.

For the last three years Mr. Gornall has been chief of the markets division, Department of Agriculture. He first entered the government service at Regina in 1922 as a member of the fruit branch of the Department of Agriculture. Later, he was moved to Calgary, and in 1926, he came to Ottawa as assistant to the fruit commissioner.

Born in England, the newly appointed commissioner engaged in fruit farming in the Annapolis Valley, N.S., twenty years ago.

TEMPERANCE WORKER

Mr. Raney managed in his political career to maintain an independence which enabled him to support the Conservative Party in the general election of 1904 and to support N. W. Rowell, Liberal leader, in 1914 in his "abolish the bar" policy. In 1919, after clearly revealing his attitude on the liquor question, he endorsed Sir William Hearst, Conservative premier, in his continuance of the Ontario Temperance Act.

Mr. Justice Raney became a member of the Drury government after he was elected to a seat in the Legislature in 1927.

By-election in East Wellington. In the next general election that installed the Conservative government of Hon. G. H. Ross, Mr. Raney was re-elected and became leader of the Progressive Opposition group. He resigned his seat in the Legislature when he was appointed to the bench in 1927.

William H. Price, in a tribute to the jurist to-day, said: "He made sacrifices to attain what he thought would benefit the country, irrespective of what it might do to his personal popularity or the fortunes of his party group. He was a doughty fighter."

In private life he was a quiet, kindly man. He was born near Aultsville, Stormont County, Ontario, December 8, 1859, a son of Herman Raney, farmer and lumberman, of Huguenot and United Empire Loyalist stock. The Raney farm adjoined the farm on which the late Sir James Whitney was reared.

Mr. Raney's early education was acquired in the log school house near his home. At the age of fifteen he became clerk in a village store and at eighteen he was a country school teacher. Eventually he was teaching staff of the St. Catharines Collegiate Institute, where he had been a pupil. For a couple years he was a newspaper reporter in the state of Maine and in Kingston, Ont. He commented the practice of law at Kingston in 1882 having graduated from Trinity University and Osgoode Hall, Toronto, as a gold medalist, but his activities to Toronto, where he had been one of the founders of the Young Men's Liberal Club while he was studying law.

CALGARY MAY VOTE ON CITY MANAGER

Associated Press—Calgary, Sept. 25.—A committee has been formed here to make plans for circulation of a petition among Calgary citizens with a view to having a vote on a city manager plan at the November civic elections. Alderman Dr. A. A. Lincoln is sponsoring the city manager idea "as a measure to increase efficiency and economy."

GREAT ACREAGE CUT IN THE U.S.

Associated Press—Washington, Sept. 25.—Secretary Henry Wallace of the Agriculture Department said in an address yesterday evening that unless world trade is restored 40,000,000 acres of land in the United States must be taken out of cultivation.

"President Roosevelt, George Peek and all of us in the agricultural adjustment administration are convinced this dilemma of bursting warehouses and starving multitudes must be solved," he said.

DISARMAMENT PLANS OF U.S.

Associated Press—Washington, Sept. 25.—Secretary Cordell Hull, pointing to the possibility of an approaching armament agreement, to-day had re-announced the arms policy of the United States as providing a freedom from sanctions, but a willingness to co-operate against arms treaty violators.

The Secretary made known the United States government was standing fast on a declared willingness to go as far as other states toward real disarmament, even to bringing arms down to the basis of domestic police forces.

It was learned the United States would not be averse to an extension of the supervisory powers of a permanent disarmament commission to keep a constant check on new reductions, when and if made.

OTTAWA TO HAVE TARIFF HEARING

Canadian Press—Ottawa, Sept. 25.—The first inquiry into British preferential rates and their effect on Canadian-United Kingdom trade will be opened here to-morrow by the Tariff Board. It was prompted by an application from the United Kingdom woolen trade for reduced tariffs in the Canadian market.

Under the Canada-United Kingdom trade treaty signed at the Ottawa Imperial Conference, Canada agreed to establish a tariff board, which, among other duties, would hear applications from British manufacturers regarding Canadian customs rates.

The Canadian textile trade will oppose the application. It will be argued by the Canadian interests the rates are fair and equitable and damage would be done if they were reduced.

CHARLES SCHWAB IS TAKING REST

Associated Press—New York, Sept. 25.—Charles N. Schwab, seventy-one-year-old chairman of the board of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation, has retired to hospital for a complete rest.

A statement issued by the hospital said the veteran steel magnate was suffering from "fatigue, that he was not seriously ill, and was expected to be up and about within a week or ten days."

A few days ago Robert P. Lamont, president of the Iron and Steel Institute, resigned his post because of opposition to the NRA code Roosevelt is applying to the steel industry.

A STIFF JOB

Canada's new Tariff Board tomorrow will begin an inquiry into British preferential rates and their effect on Canada-United Kingdom business. It has been prompted by an application from the British woolen trade for reduced tariffs in the Canadian market. It will be recalled that in the treaty entered into between Canada and the United Kingdom at the Imperial Conference last summer, the Dominion agreed to establish a Tariff Board, which, among other duties, would hear applications from British manufacturers regarding Canadian customs rates.

The Canadian textile trade will oppose the application of the British woolen industry. It has argued on many occasions that the duties on British textiles are fair and equitable and that if they are lowered, the Canadian industry will be seriously damaged, if not killed altogether. An impartial view persists that our textile manufacturers "do protest too much." But this is a technical matter, and one upon which only those engaged in the industry are competent to render judgment. As the inquiry proceeds, however, it may be possible for the general public to form an opinion on the merits of the case.

It is reported from Ottawa that the inquiry is likely to be a protracted one and that part of the hearing will be held in private. A good deal of the controversy will revolve around the point of relative production costs.

The Times already has said that it is not fair to judge the merit of the Canada-United Kingdom pact until it has had a fair trial; a few months obviously is not a fair trial. In the twelve months ending June, 1933, this country sold to the United Kingdom goods worth $195,370,568, and bought goods from the United Kingdom worth $86,908,666. In the twelve months ending June 30, 1932, the respective figures were $195,370,568 and $86,908,666. So that while there was an increase of our sales to the United Kingdom in the period under review of $31,152,647, there was a drop in our purchases of $10,468,883.

These comparisons of imports and exports may be of great economic importance; but when it is remembered that for the last forty years the balance of trade between Canada and the United Kingdom has been very largely in this country's favor—in several years at the rate of about three dollars to one—it is not unnatural that a British industry which considers the duty is too high against its products should press the case for a downward revision. This is precisely what the textile industry is about to do—and to which the Canadian textile industry will offer stout opposition, as is its privilege.

In considering this case, however, there are other matters associated with the provisions of the Canada-United Kingdom pact. For example, Mr. Bennett, when in London recently, asked that British imports of Soviet Russian lumber be cut down by one-half. His argument was based on the contention that Russian timber was competing unfairly in the British market with Canadian timber, thus violating the spirit of Article Twenty-one of the trade treaty, which expressly provides for protection of empire produce against produce of state-aided industry, or dumping. There is a division of opinion as to whether this clause has been violated. What the executive council of the Timber Trade Federation of Great Britain thinks about this question is reflected in The Manchester Guardian's London correspondent's dispatch to his newspaper a couple of weeks ago. It follows:

An emergency meeting of the Executive Council of the Timber Trade Federation was held in London to-day to discuss the representations made by the Canadian Prime Minister to the government about Canada's share in the British timber trade. I understand that the meeting expressed resentment at the interference of Canadian politicians in our domestic affairs, and it was decided to send a strong protest to the government and to request that the evidence of the federation should be heard before any steps were taken to discriminate between the imports of Russian and Canadian timber.

The federation thought it unfortunate that they had not been consulted before the arrangements with Sweden and Finland were arrived at during the period of the embargo on all imports from Russia. I am told by a large importer in this country that Canada cannot supply enough suitable wood for domestic purposes and also that she cannot approach within even reasonable distance of the prices asked for the same quality woods by the Russians.

The lumber question is an old one. This country, particularly British Columbia, is up against geography. Canada can not sell to the British importer anything like as cheaply as the exporters from the northern European countries can. At the same time, the lumber industry appreciates the energetic manner in which Premier Bennett has tried to impress upon the British government the spirit and letter of Article Twenty-one and what its invocation, if the circumstances warrant, would mean to those Canadian wage-earners who labor in the forests and lumber mills.

As already implied, it is for the Canadian textile interests to prove to the Tariff Board that a reduction in the customs duty on British textiles would injure or kill the Canadian textile industry. If it is able to do so, it will have established its case in opposition to the British appeal for a reduction. The British applicants may not be convinced, and this fact may have some bearing on the British government's attitude toward Soviet lumber imports. After all, the Ottawa Conference was called to see if the countries of the empire could agree on certain mutual tariff concessions with the object of increasing inter-empire trade. Upon the measure of compromise which is allowed to obtain will depend the success or failure of the original objective.

From the cold point of view of Canadian business, Canadian employment, and Canadian economic conditions generally, there is not a great deal of consolation to be extracted from an increase of $30-000,000 in the import and export trade with Great Britain while in the same period the import and export trade between Canada and the United States declined by $71,000,000. It is volume of external business that Canada requires to keep more than 10,000,000 people prosperous.

WILL THE GOVERNMENT DEFAULT?

A news article in the morning newspaper says the government proposes to hold Mr. Pattullo responsible for its failure to form a union administration. But the government has not admitted that it has failed. On the contrary, it has cited the appointment of two new ministers as an indication that it already has a union administration. It calls itself a union government, and, according to an announcement by the Premier last week, it proposes to contest the election as such.

It is significant that the article which foreshadows the government's plan of campaign did not mention Mr. Bowser, who also rejected the Premier's invitation to coalesce with him under his leadership—an invitation couched in such terms as to make acceptance impossible. Mr. Bowser has since cast his lot with the Independents, and the government cherishes the forlorn hope that, notwithstanding the resolution of the Independents that they will have nothing to do with the government, and that in no case would they support for leadership any member of the government, they might be lured back into the fold.

Incidentally, we wonder if the government appreciates the significance of the fact that the Independents, virtually all of whom are its former supporters, are appealing to the electors on the ground that they have suddenly seen the great white light of repentance, and reform, that they hope to get as Independents an electoral support they could not get as supporters of the government. It is hardly necessary to say that if those Independents were not convinced the government was lost they would be running or trying to run as its most enthusiastic advocates.

We are not sure which suffers the most from this desertion. It is undoubtedly a slam at the government, but, on the other hand, there is something very ignoble in the spectacle of former supporters of the government repudiating their colors merely because they are flying over a lost cause, and who, if by some miracle the government entered upon happier times, would try to crawl back into the blissful haven of preferment. Moreover, their attitude is almost an affront to the electors, since it implies that in their opinion the electorate is composed of a lot of nincompoops with memories so short that they do not recall that up until the very last session of the Legislature they either helped to create the record which they now repudiate, or heartily approved of it.

Meanwhile, although only fifteen working days remain before nomination day, the government has but five candidates in the field. By this time it should have had a representative in every seat in which it felt its cause was not represented, and it should have required every one of those representatives to champion its policy as a supporter. It has no right to claim as its candidates those who have specifically and expressly repudiated it—as all of the other elements in the field have done. So far it is letting the election go by default.

It surely is a terrible mess the government, which for five years has had three-quarters of the Legislature behind it, has got itself and the province into.

THE LEAGUE MEETS

When the fourteenth assembly of the League of Nations began its business at Geneva to-day it listened to some plain talk from Premier Mowinkel of Norway, the president of the council, who frankly expressed his disappointment that "we find to our shame we have made little progress toward securing a better understanding, a purer atmosphere, or a healthier mentality between peoples," that the prestige of the League, fifteen years after the close of "that fratricidal crime, the world war" had not improved.

Although Premier Mowinkel evidently was not in the most optimistic mood, he thought the four-power peace pact recently signed by Great Britain, France, Italy, and Germany could aid considerably in a torn and divided Europe, where liberty of thought and personal liberty are not everywhere secure." The Canadian Press dispatch from Geneva to-day says that Dr. Goebbels, Hitler's Minister of Propaganda and right-hand man in the German government, sat in the front row of delegates immediately in front of Premier Mowinkel. "Liberty of thought and personal liberty are not everywhere secure" may have had some significance for him.

It is just as well that Premier Mowinkel should have said the things he did, and that he should say a possibility of war "hangs menacingly over the world," that, by implication, the Disarmament Conference had labored like the mountain and brought forth a mouse. To-day's dispatches, however, intimate that among the British delegates there is a feeling of distinct optimism, based mainly on the fact that both Germany and France are getting nearer the mood for conciliatory advances in the matter of disarmament, while, because of the greatly improved relations between France and Italy, there is the hope that Mussolini will be able to tone down the policies of Nazi Germany by a little persuasive eloquence with Chancellor Hitler.

It remains an enigma to the plain man in the street that public opinion the world over does not organize itself and demand that all governments shall bring about disarmament. For disarmament is the root question. All the talk that is to be prepared for war to insure peace should be flung to the limbo of things forgotten. The world in 1914 was armed to the teeth. The greatest war, most costly in human life and treasure, followed this state of much-vaunted "preparedness." Surely the world is not so bankrupt of humanitarian instincts—if it is of statesmanship—to permit such a condition to arise again.

Pessimistic as Premier Mowinkel may be, however, the very fact that the statesmen of the world—mindful of sinister influences which are not negligible in their effect upon peoples who are suffering from the operation of fallacious economic policies—are talking plainly to one another is all to the good. The League of Nations is not yet out of its swaddling clothes as an international agency to prevent what has been a policy for settlement of disputes—since the dawn of civilization. But it will survive and prosper, despite its novelty which disturbs the equilibrium of the reactionary mind, and in the end what it will do what it set out to do—prevent war.

Loose Ends

We move to the left and propose a revolution—but who cares? The public asks for men and lets issues take care of themselves—"David Copperfield" is sugar-coated for a sickly-sweet generation—and a fellow is discussed in the bus.

By H. B. W.

NATURAL

IN THE CLASH of personalities, the human drama of the Tolmie Government's last days, in this battle of men the real issues of the provincial election campaign, says the political correspondent of The Vancouver Province, are being overlooked altogether in many places. This, I think, is right and natural. The public is usually more interested in the fate of men whom it knows and understands, than in issues, which it doesn't. If there were no men in elections, merely a vote on certain abstract principles and policies, hardly anyone would turn up at the polls at all. Democracy would quietly disappear, with general consent.

If you want proof of it, you don't have to look further than this debatable election, over which even the gods must be rocking with laughter. In this election the platforms and principles of all the parties are entirely overlooked. I will offer a prize of one of my best squashes to any reader of this column who can prove that he has the remotest idea of what the various platforms are about. Yet nearly every reader who is on the voters' list will march stoutly to the polls and cast his ballot with a fine conscientious sense of duty, and with a firm opinion that the man he is voting for should be elected; or rather that the man he is voting against should be defeated, for elections are usually won that way. I mean, most people are not eager to elect the man they like, but they are determined to throw the old crowd out, and if the new crowd imagines the public is clamoring for it, then it is just fooling itself.

HOWEVER, THAT is not the really interesting feature of the situation. While the public is busy talking about the sins of Candidate James Smith, or the virtues of Candidate Bill Brown, and blaming the Tolmie Government for the depression, and extolling the ability of Mr. Pattullo, while the public is busy enjoying the human side of the election and secretly hoping that there will be lots of bitterness and nastiness and violence in the campaign, our whole politics has suddenly achieved a peaceful revolution, unsuspected, under our very eyes.

Yes, if you will look over the platforms of the Liberal Party, the C.C.F., and the Independent Group, you will be amazed. The reason the public isn't amazed is that it doesn't bother to look over, or it has got past caring. Anyway, you will find that all the platforms advocate changes so drastic that had they been proposed in the Legislature a year ago they would have been branded as revolutionary. Health insurance, unemployment insurance, a public utility commission, shorter working utility higher wages, marketing of agricultural products controlled by law, scholarships for deserving students—in all a programme which moves so far to the left that you would expect the conservative part of the population and the big interests to be shaking in their shoes.

And funniest of all, there is no big issue in the election so far as the platforms are concerned, except that the C.C.F. favors national socialism, which is outside the scope of provincial politics and thus doesn't arise. There is no issue of importance. All have gone to the left. All agree that we must have a revolution in provincial government. But the public is left quite cold by proposals which would have terrified it in the last election. A few people may be just cynical about it, like a dog old political friend of mine, who said to me only yesterday: "Of course, all the platforms are terrible mad, crazy. But you see we're all right, because everybody knows 'we don't mean to be any out.' But mostly people don't worry about platforms. They vote for men. And governments, when elected, go ahead and do what they like, or rather what they can, anyway."

CLASSIC

A FELLOW IN ENGLAND has just published a modernized version of "David Copperfield," which all decent people will regard as one wrong more to man, one more insult to God, than the one of the things from which the law cannot protect an author like Dickens, and yet why not? Why shouldn't we face the grim fact that the rising generation isn't reading Dickens any more, or Scott or any of the classics, except as it is forced to skim through bits of them at school, indeed, the worse fact that because an author is to have his books develop into classics, and his name achieve immortality, for then it is certain that he will not be read. He will be bought, of course, in nice leather-bound volumes, and stood in the bookcase to impress the neighbors, but he won't be read. The greater he is, the more he is talked of the more respect is paid to him, the bigger his name in history, the less he will be really known.

Thus a brief, snappy version of "David Copperfield," such as an English publisher has just issued, is perfectly in harmony with our times. We don't want to read the classics in the original. We don't want to do anything in the original. That is the total weakness of our entire civilization—so few people do anything in the original any more. I think I have said before, and will say again. They live by tools and machines that someone else has made for their convenience. They get their notions of life to a great extent, from the magazines and the movies instead of from life itself, because the magazines and movies are so much more agreeable. More and more they are getting away from the original in the very nourishment of their bodies by living out of cans. Vast populations herded in the cities of America never see the original of the world at all, only a hideous distortion of it in concrete and steel and machinery.

There are only a few of us left living in the original who really know anything about the original at all. Like the growing of squashes, the cutting of firewood and the planting of daffodils. For such a race an imitation of "David Copperfield," I suppose, is quite good enough. They will never know the difference. They will never suspect what they have missed in the original of "David Copperfield," any more than they suspect what they have missed in the original of life.

THE OTHER EVENING, as I was coming out from town in the bus I overheard two ladies from the country discussing some mutual acquaintance. "They say he's not a bad fellow, but cracked in the head, I mean," said the first. "Well, he does say some nutty things, but he was a little touched," said the second. "My husband says he's a menace because he's a radical and all that."

"That's funny. Mine says he's in the pay of the Conservative Party."

"Well, he's certainly queer anyway."

"Yes, a very queer old man. I hear he's over eighty and they take him around in a bathchair and he swears at people something terrible. Wicked old man. And him writing about gardening and getting out in the woods and all. Just lies."

"The paper should be ashamed to employ him is what I say."

"Do you know what I heard? I heard he's the real father of the little girl next door what he writes about."

"Is that so? Well, I'm not surprised. That's the kind of man he would be! But what women could see in him I'm sure I don't know. I'm sorry for the child, though."

I got off the bus.

THE VICTORIA DAILY TIMES September 23, 1908 (From The Times Files)

The verdict of the judges in the window dressing competition for prizes by the B.C. Agricultural Association in connection with this year's fair, was returned this morning to the secretary at the show grounds. Dixie H. Ross gained first prize, with Chalmers & Mitchell second, and E. G. Prior third. Finch & Finch gained fourth place.

Excellent progress is being made with the extensions of the water distribution system, and also with the section of the fire protection service which is being laid on Broughton and Wharf Streets. City Engineer Topp is much pleased with the rate at which the work is being done.

A long-distance relay race against time from Seattle to Vancouver by the boys of the Vancouver, Seattle, Tacoma, Everett and Bellingham Y.M.C.A.'s the longest race of the kind ever held on the Pacific Coast, is planned for the Canadian Thanksgiving Day. The suggestion has been made by the Vancouver Y.M.C.A. and the American associations will be asked to join in arranging the event.

A special rate of $1 between Vancouver and Victoria on the C.P.R. steamships, via Seattle, was put into effect yesterday. This move is intended to force a reduction in the rate on the Inland Navigation Company's vessels, which is $1.25 for the same trip, two fares being paid, one for the trip from Seattle to Victoria, and $1 for that between Vancouver and Seattle.

It is anticipated that the Inland Navigation Company will follow the C.P.R. out within a couple of days.

Admiral Kingsmill returned to the city this afternoon on the C.O.S. West, after inspecting the northern fishery and fishing grounds off Prince Rupert.

In answer to a question from a Times reporter, Admiral Kingsmill said that one of the features of the northern fisheries that had impressed itself upon him during the trip was the number and success of the American fishery steamers in contrast with the few that are sent out from British Columbia ports.

Rev. Robert Connell last evening entertained a large part of the congregation of the St. Saviour's Church in the schoolroom of the church, with a great variety of lantern slides, showing the growth of the history of the British Empire.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By ALINE MICHAELIS

THE GYPSY IN AUTUMN

Summer is fading, is passing now; Yellowing leaf and strapping bough; Days grow shorter and nights grow cool; Chill are the deeps of the forest pool; Southward the swallow and bluebird fly; Soon will be only winter and I.

Only old winter, when flowers depart, Laying his hand on my weeping heart; Making me shiver and shiver and shiver; Making me shiver and shiver and shiver; Winter with snow mounting higher and higher; Mocking at me, by my dead-twig fire!

"But there are houses and hearths," you say; "Do not be such a keep winter away!" What knows a rover of bolts and bars? Nights that are coldest fall brightest stars; Walls for a gypsy are cold dissent; Better the winds through my tattered tent!

NANAIMO IN SOCCER WIN

Nanaimo, Sept. 23.—Playing superior ball, but slipping on foul, Nanaimo City defeated Cowans-Dodson team here Saturday, 6 to 4, in the first local senior soccer game. Nanaimo at one time led 5 to 1, but three penalty kicks were awarded the bakers in a row and all were converted. On the day's play, however, the visitors played a cup the brand of ball, which lacked the pretty finishes Nanaimo made, while driving on goal.

Most of Nanaimo's goals were the result of pretty combination, while the bakers' only counter which was result of team work was their first, which was scored one minute after play started. When McKay slipped in past English. One minute later, however, Waugh, at the other end, equalized, when he scored first of three goals for himself on fifty play. Nanaimo went further when ten minutes later McGreggor got possession at mid-field, sent a long cross over to Kula, who centred to Waugh. The latter was coming in fast and slammed the ball into the net without a chance for Watson to save. The half ended with Nanaimo leading, 3 to 1.

Seven minutes from restart, the Kula-Waugh combination again worked and Waugh scored. Nanaimo sent Hills on for Green and Cowans sent on Naughton and Moran for Campbell and another. With fifteen minutes gone, Jackson, who was playing his first game with the seniors at centre-forward, scored his first goal in senior company and made the count 3 to 1 for Nanaimo.

Nanaimo was awarded a corner. Sandland took it and Kula converted with a first timer. With eight minutes to play, Boyd was charged with fouling goal, by Referee Guinness and the bakers converted from the spot. Eight hundred saw the game.

Vancouver, Sept. 23.—Kerrisdale and Westminster Army and Navy played to a 2 to 2 draw in a Senior Soccer League game here Saturday. The Royal City team scored the first goal ten minutes after the start, when Fraser lobbed the ball to Findler, who nodded it over the bar. The goalies rushed out to save. Rothweiler sent Westminster further ahead in another ten minutes. Back and forth the game went, with goals and drove the ball past Lindal, while on the run. Westminster led 2 to 1 at half time.

Eight minutes after resumption, Roots met a cross from the right and sent the ball past Blewitt, to cut down Westminster's lead. Midway through the half, Roots again scored, tying the score. Blewitt picked up a loose ball in front of the net, but dropped it, and Roots dashed in to tap it into the net for the final score of the game.

MAY FURTHER RESEARCH WORK

Carnegie Grant for Provincial Museum Recommended by Committee

Establishment of an entomological branch of the Provincial Museum for an extension of scientific research work is proposed by the Carnegie Museum Committee of Canada in a recommendation to the Carnegie Corporation at New York, according to Francis Kermode, provincial curator, who has just returned from a meeting of the committee.

In a general scheme of grants to further scientific work in Canadian museums, the proposal for Victoria will be included, he said.

The committee, which met at Ottawa, is composed of: Dr. J. C. Webster, Shediac, N.B.; H. O. McCurry, secretary of the National Art Gallery at Ottawa; E. L. Judah, McGill University; Eric Brown, director of the National Art Gallery; Dr. Edward Wallace, Edmonton University; Dr. Reginald Brock, U.B.C.; Vincent Massey, former Canadian Minister to Washington, D.C., and Mr. Kermode, Dr. F.
P. Keppell, president of the Carnegie Corporation, also attended.

After the meeting, Mr. Kermode visited several of the leading museums in the east, including the new museum opened by the Ontario Government at Toronto at a cost of $2-000,000, and the United States Museum of Natural History at Albany, N.Y., where a $200,000 wing to be known as the Theodore Roosevelt Memorial is contemplated.

COUNCIL WILL MEET MONDAY

Weekly Night Meetings To Be Resumed for Winter Season

The City Council will resume its regular schedule of weekly meetings for the winter this evening, when the session is set for 8 o'clock.

Among the matters on the agenda will be the adoption of the public works committee's recommendation to authorize the connection of the new water main at Leighton Road to the Oak Bay sewer.

The industrial committee has submitted reports recommending the council endorse the Co-operative Land League's plan to establish unemployed on farms with financial assistance, providing the government undertake part of the scheme. The committee also proposes endorsement of the protest of local halibut fishermen against the early closing of the season.

An amendment to the Streets, Traffic and Regulations by-law which will make the intersection of Shelbourne Street and Hillside Avenue a "four-way stop" corner is listed for final passing.

Ward Two Liberals will hold their usual monthly meeting at headquarters, corner of Broughton and Government Streets, on Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock. Matters of considerable importance will be discussed. After the business session, prominent speakers will address the meeting. All Ward
Two Liberals are urged to be present.

A discussion of unusual interest will take place at City Hall, Fort Street (Cattle Block) on Thursday at 8:15 o'clock. The subject will be "Should a Follower of Jesus Christ Uphold Violence?" The leaders of this debate will be G. B. Kitto and H. Eager.
These present are invited to take part in the open discussion following the speeches. An interesting preliminary to the affairs will be the views of prominent founders of the movement in England, sixty years ago. Representing these will be Miss F. P. Cobbe (Mrs. L. Roseboom), Lord Shaftesbury (T. H.
Laundry), Cardinals Manning and Newman (J. Pudney and H. Hollins), Lord
Chief Justice Coleridge (G. B. Kitto),
Miss G. Bonshar and Capt. A. Laybourn will contribute the musical numbers.
The meeting is open to the public. Miss
N. K. Wyles will occupy the chair.

COSTS BAR TO POLICE RADIO

Outside Districts Unwilling to Bear Expense Now, Chief Learns

Financial exigencies preclude the likelihood of a metropolitan police radio car system being adopted at the present time in Victoria and the surrounding municipalities, it was learned this morning.

Chief Thomas Hestley, who propounded the scheme, has talked the matter over informally with chiefs of the neighboring districts and while it is generally agreed the system would be of direct benefit to the police work of general feeling is that money is not available now.

Under the chief's plan the radio for the four municipalities would have cost $250 a month on a lease basis.

The chief will place on file with the commission at a meeting this week his plans for future reference.

The commission will also discuss the purchase of new topcoats for members of the department and one or two other matters of departmental routine.

Seven wards in Oak Bay and Esquimalt had polling stations named for at corner of Mitchell and Johnson Streets at that number. Ward One includes Victoria West and Burnside areas, generally.

store between Yates and Johnson Avenue. Ward Two lies, in general, to the east of Ward One.

Ward Three—982 Johnson Street in a garage between Quadra and Vancouver Streets. Ward Three takes in the northeastern section of the city.

Ward Four—Former Sunday School building at old Christ Church Cathedral site on Quadra Street. Ward Four includes areas south of Fort, north of Fairfield and Poul Bay, etc.

FINE CAST AT THE DOMINION

Kay Francis, Nils Asther, Walter Huston, Phillips Holmes in Romance

Colorful, different in its background and import from the usual run of romances, "Storm at Daybreak" is at the Dominion Theatre.

The love story is a particularly fascinating one, depicting the struggle of a woman between loyalty to her husband, old enough to be her father, and love for a dashing young cavalry officer.
All the ingredients of powerful drama are here, intrigue, jealousy, intense love and bitter hate. The colorful foreign settings, the rapid-fire action and the thrilling climax in which a man drives himself to death over an embankment, all contribute to make this a picture which forces the spectator to sit up and take notice.

No little of the distinction of "Storm at Daybreak" is due to its flawless acting. Kay Francis is the woman torn between loyalty and devotion. Nils Asther does the best work of his career.
Walter Huston, as the husband, has a difficult role.

Phillips Holmes also gives a grand performance. The round Eugene Palette and Louise Closser Hale are an excellent comedy pair.

Also being shown on the same programme is Ricardo Cortez in "Big Executive."

NEGRO STAGE SHOW COMING

Empire Theatre to Present "Change Your Luck" With Cast of Fifty Persons

The Empire Theatre management announce that, starting on Friday it will present the first show of its kind seen in Victoria, namely the negro revue, "Change Your Luck," the all-colored musical show which is now playing with success in Vancouver.

More than fifty performers are in this production. They offer a unique stage spectacle which has been de-lighting the most fastidious of Canadian audiences. A striking revelation of the production is its freedom from risky dialogue and while the feminine contingent of the company dress in the elaborately modern style of up-to-date revue costumes, these will be nothing objectionable.

Included in the cast of fifty professional artists is Curt Mosby's famous Dixie Band, twenty-four African beauties and a full contingent of the fine singers and negro artists who are famous the world over, and a host of comedians and dancers.

BING CROSBY AT COLUMBIA

"College Humor," Paramount's musical-comedy version of college life, is at the Columbia Theatre.

Bing Crosby achieved national distinction on the radio, and, as a result, was invited to Hollywood. Paramount put him under contract when they found he could act as well as sing. He heads the "College Humor" cast.

Richard Arlen, who has second "billing" honors in the picture, got into the movies as the result of an accident. He cracked up a motorcycle in front of Paramount's studio ten years ago.
When he recovered, he was offered extra work and did so well he won a contract.

GEORGE ROBEY AT PLAYHOUSE

Richard Arlen, the present "Billing" star, has the leading role in "Marry Me," the ideal-Gainsborough picture which is at the Playhouse.

Some imitatively funny business is contributed in the picture by George Robey, who takes the part of a beetle-broved Hungarian farmer, Alloysius Novak, who comes to town in search of a bride.

There are some captivating songs, including the "Early Bird" number, and the theme song "Widow Sombody Marry Me," bids fair to out-rival the popularity of that memorable song-hit "To-day I Feel So Happy."

Also being shown is Barbara Stanwyck in "Forbidden."

EMPIRE THEATRE

Some of the most delightful scenes in "Lord Camber's Ladies," the tense and human chronicle of real life joys and sorrow which is being shown at the Empire Theatre, are those in the children's ward of a big hospital, with their rows of white cots, each with its own tiny occupant.

A complete Sun-Ray apparatus was installed for these scenes and shots can be seen showing the tiny mites undergoing the beneficial sunlight treatment, with Benita Hume, as Janet

DO YOU KNOW?

How the terms "growler" and "crawler" pertaining to four-wheeled London cabs originated?

Answer: The term "growler" derived from the discontented attitude of their drivers, and "crawlers" from their slow pace.

It is also true that invalids and convalescent patients enjoy Stevenson's delicious Chocolates for their nutritive and health-giving qualities.

Do you know how the famous cab, meaning a two-wheeled horse-drawn London vehicle, derived its name? Answer will appear Wednesday.

Send questions to Stevenson's Chocolate Shops, 1119 Douglas or 725 Yates Streets.

He expressed the hope that the new students would be able to adjust themselves to the method of study. In closing, Mr. Elliott called upon Miss K. Ring, medical adviser to the School Board, who informed the girls that a course in home nursing and home economics was being started at the High School and any who wished to take advantage of this class were welcome to attend.

Court Hears More of the Last Hours of Juanita at Shoal Bay

Shipyard Men Say She Was Sound; Parts of Boat in Court

Judge Lampman to-day continued hearing of the story of the last hours of the cruiser Juanita which came to the end of her career last summer at Shoal Bay where Capt. W. A. Pomeroy beached her, when as he testified, she began to sink while passing through the Trial Island channel.

Capt. Pomeroy with Jean McAndrew Dunagan, as purchasers, have been before the court for the last week suing Eugene Robert Johnson as vendor for the return of the money paid and cancellation of the agreement to purchase.

Some ribs and other parts of the skeleton of the Juanita, which disintegrated on the shore, were brought into court by H. A. Beckwith, counsel for Capt. Pomeroy.

John Eric Carver, called to the stand to-day by Gerald H. Sedger, testified that the hull of the ship was in good condition when he saw it on the beaching and how the water mounted so fast that they had to beach her again. He said he saw a big hole on the left-hand side and also at the stern.

John Jones testified he had helped in repairing the Juanita when she was up on the ways at the shipyard last March and April, being scraped and cleaned, and that the hull of the vessel was in first class condition for a boat of her age, and denied that there had been a hole three or four inches long which had been covered up with paint and putty and while he was on the ways at the shipyard last Washington Will Have Edge at Bat in Coming Baseball Series

Giants Counting on Travis Jackson to Come Through at Third

English Sports-Scribe Favors Mingling of Amateurs and Pros.

BASEBALL lightning may seldom strike twice in the same place but even when it does the New York Giants refuse to be discouraged. They are going into the world series with Washington for the second time, minus their regular third-baseman, but none the less confident Travis "Stonewall" Jackson will play the heroic role as a substitute. The one-time "Arkansas Traveler" plans a comeback as the replacement for Johnny Verge, hard-hitting third-sacker who was knocked out of the line-up by an appendix operation three weeks ago. Jackson's knees are all right now, though he still is a bit lame, and he will start at third for us, says Manager Bill Terry. "He will come through on the defense and he will hit."

Figures and dope indicate Washington will have the edge, especially at bat, in the coming classic. Terry's .324 is the only top-notch batting mark among the Giants' infield quartet. The Senators average .300 collectively and have two cleanup hitters in Manager Joe Cronin, now hitting .312, and Joe Kuhel, young first baseman, who had a mark of .321 in the last official season.

Defensively Terry and Hughes Critz are the Giants' mainstay. Critz has a .187 batting average and Hughes a .187. Myer on the right side, but Manager Cronin at shortstop and Ossie Bluege at third combine greater steadiness and experience than their rivals. Blondy Ryan and Jackson, Ryan's world series debut will attract unusual interest. The former Holy Cross University star still has the "old college spirit." His field skill and confidence played a big part in making the Giants a championship outfit.

That the question of amateurs mingling with professionals is a general one, and not, as some have believed, a problem peculiar to Canada, is shown by the following article by an English sports writer. In his column in the Illustrated Sporting and Dramatic News, Vedette writes as follows:

"But whatever may be the letter of the law in Nurni's case, one cannot help wishing that the whole problem might be reconsidered. Why should not some system be adopted, in which it would be possible for an amateur to compete against a professional without himself losing any of his amateur status? For what lover of sport would not rejoice at the prospect of a mile race between Nurni, Ladoumègue, Lovelock and Thomas? Even supposing that the first two are under suspicion by exact definition, how would such an encounter differ from the Gentlemen v. Players cricket matches?

"Some pulling on professionalism is no doubt necessary, but it is going too far to treat a professional as a species of 'untouchable' from whom, merely by competing against him, the amateur can receive contamination."

The only seventy-five that ever played a ball and a golf course swatted a pill around the El Paso Country Club layout in eighteen minutes and five seconds. The ninety-two blows that fell upon the ball from all angles were delivered by members of the club who stood about the fairways—and rough—to relay the pill as it went around. Some of the last few of the seventy-five players must have been high-handicap men. We wonder what a group of high-class golfers could do with such a relay race? Could they hit a ball around the course in ten minutes, and seventy-two strokes?

Eric Fiddian Stages Unusual Performance During Irish Open Golf Final

Sinks Pair of Tee Shots But Drops 36-hole Match to Jack McLean 3 and 2

Newcastle, Northern Ireland, Sept. 25.—One of the most unusual records in the history of golf stood today to the credit of Eric Fiddian. The twenty-three-year-old English internationalist scored two holes in one in the stress of championship competition here Saturday, yet lost the match.

Fiddian's strange performance came on the County Down course, where Jack McLean, Scottish titleholder, retained his Irish open amateur championship by beating the Englishman 3 and 2. Fiddian made his first hole in one at the seventh, a one-shotter of 128 yards, the British male nubbick teed bouncing on to the green and into the hole. On the second round of the 36-hole match, Fiddian scored another hole in one at the fourteenth, a 140-yard shot, which landed safely on the green and rolled into the cup. McLean compiled approximate medal cards of 73-65-138 to 74-63-137 for Fiddian. The Scotsman led by two holes after the morning round.

BUFFALO WIN OPENING GAME

Defeat Columbus 7 to 6 to Usher in Little World Baseball Series

Both Starting Pitchers Blasted From Mound; Koencke Hits Home Run

Columbus, P., Sept. 25.—Buffalo Bisons, champions of the International League, defeated Columbus Red Birds, pennant winners of the American Association, 7 to 6 yesterday in the first game of the little world series. A crowd of 40,500 fans saw the contest.

Bill Lee, starting pitcher for the Bisons, was hit hard and in the fifth was forced to the showers. Bud Teachout, who relieved him, was wild, but managed to hold the Bisons in check until he was relieved in the eighth for a pinch hitter.

The left-handed shots of George Misteud, Buffalo starting hurler, had the Columbus batters guessing most of the time until the eighth inning when he too was knocked out of the box. Phil Gallivan, replacing him, did a masterful job of relief twirling, facing five men, of whom he struck out two, forced one to fly out, and the other to ground out to second base.

Lon Koencke of the Bisons got a long home run with none on the base in the third inning.

Short score—R. H. E.
Buffalo..... 7 11 2
Columbus..... 6 10 2

Victoria Nine Whips Buckersfields 6 to 3 in Deciding Game for Laurels

Vancouver Nine Evened Series With 14 to 1 Win; 2,000 in Attendance

Rallying brilliantly in the second game, after losing the first by a 14 to 1 score, MacDonald's Service softball nine blazed its way to a glorious victory over Buckersfields of Vancouver to win the B.C. series and the provincial softball title, by a 6 to 3 victory, before 2,000 fans at Central Park on Saturday afternoon.

The second game was one of the most exciting witnessed here for some time and after Victoria took an early lead, the huge crowd was on its feet throughout, cheering the home team on to victory. It was a thrilling climax to an exciting series and while it was a great game for Victoria to win it was a heartbreaker for the mainland side which showed up brilliantly in the opening game of the day. MacDonald's won the first game of the series by a 2 to 1 score in Vancouver last Wednesday.

When the first game on Saturday was half played and the mainlanders were showing superiority in every department, the Victoria team looked a little to the green and red, but Victoria's representatives thought differently and took the field imbued with a new spirit in the final, and played steadily behind the consistent pitching of Chuck Turner, to add new laurels to those they have already won this year.

The field was sloppy and on several occasions was responsible for errors and bad plays.

PITCHER IMPRESSIVE
The most impressive feature of the opening encounter was the whirlwind pitching of Wilson Murray, of Buckersfields. For the whole game Murray had the locals buffeted with his variety of speedy and slow balls and he was one of the main reasons for the optimism regarding Vancouver's chances of winning. When called upon to come back in the second game, however, it was too much for him, and he was tried hard, he was not able to show the speed and control which marked his debut to Victoria fans.

Eric Moir worked well for Victoria in the first few innings of the opening game and looked as though he would go the full route. When Vancouver players began their slugfest it was too much for him, however, and before the game was over, two other pitchers had taken his place.

CREDIT TO TURNER
To Chuck Turner goes the main credit for the local victory. True to his name, Turner "chucked out" his well, after being "choked out" during the first game when he had gone in to replace Moir, and was unable to show much control. It was a fine piece of baseball strategy to take him out and hold him for the second fixture, the latter game proved.

Another big slice of the glory for the victory also goes to Wilf Shoultice, MacDonald's left fielder, who, not contented with a couple of brilliant catches in Vancouver, gave the hometowners a display of fielding that has not been beaten here for many a long day. Twice in one inning Shoultice made catches that seemed impossible, and on two occasions robbed the Vancouverites of a possible score.

Victoria scored the first run of the day in the first inning, when George Robertson scored the plate on an over throw. Keith equalled the count for Vancouver when he scored on Murray's double in the fifth.

SLUGGEST BEGINS
Then began the Vancouver slaughter in the sixth, which split doom for Victoria. Run after run crossed the plate in hits and ensuing innings and Victoria hardly seemed to be able to do anything right. Turner replaced Moir for half an inning and then his place was taken by Noel Morgan who hit a home run.

The story told in the second game though was different. Slight changes were made in both line-ups, the principal ones being the sending in of Turner to pitch for the Victoria and McArthur for Vancouver.

The first inning and a half passed uneventfully until MacDonald's came to bat. Morgan hit safe and went to second on Bill Champion's single. Morgan and Champion stole third and second. O'Connell flied out. Turner hit a hard drive into the crowd for a double, spring Morgan and placing Champion on third. Shoultice walked, filling the bases. Les Kennedy was next and drove a long hit to center field to score Champion and Turner.

MURRAY CALLED BACK
At this stage the Vancouver manager called on Murray to go in and try and pull the game out of the fire. Murray was wild on his first throw and walked Monaghan. Chapman and Les Kennedy both flied out to retire the side. Victoria then held a 3 to 0 lead.

Buckersfields failed to score in the third. In the last half of the inning Noel Morgan, first man to bat, caught a fast ball from out of the fire. Murray was wild on his first throw and walked Monaghan. Chapman and Les Kennedy both flied out to retire the side. Victoria then held a 3 to 0 lead.

MIKE DONLIN PASSES AWAY

Famous Member of New York Giants From 1904 to 1910 Dies at Hollywood

Hollywood, Cal., Sept. 25.—Mike Donlin, famous baseball figure with New York Giants from 1904 to 1910, died of a heart attack at his home here yesterday. He was fifty-six.

In the twelve years Donlin played in the National League he never failed to hit at a .300 clip and in the world series of 1905 it was the combination of Christy Mathewson's pitching and Donlin's hitting that gave John McGraw's club victory over Philadelphia.

One of the most popular figures in baseball, "Turkey Mike" Donlin was captain of the Giants from 1906 to 1910.

The third quarter was featured by Jack's forty-yard broken-field run for New Westminster to put the ball on Victoria's twenty-yard line. After two unsuccessful line bucks Simpson tried a place kick, but it was wide and went for a rouge when Gribble was pulled down, tying the score. New Westminster nearly got another point near the end of the quarter on another kick by Simpson but Latta and Imrie combined nicely to get the ball over their goal line.

New Westminster had a decided edge in the fourth quarter with Henderson, Hinkel, MacAdam and Reg. Hale crashing through for yardage gains. Shortly after a meeting will be held in the Crystal Garden at 8 o'clock.

Bill Henderson's Touchdown Gives Westminster Win

Defeat Victoria Gridders 6 to 1 in Opening Game of Canadian Rugby

Winning Score In Last Minutes

Fumbles Spoil Many Plays on Both Sides; V.A.C. Defeat Meralomas

Bill Henderson's buck through the middle of the Victoria line with three and a half minutes to go, gave New Westminster a 6 to 1 victory over the locals in the opening game of the Big Four Canadian Rugby League at the Athletic Park on Saturday afternoon. Up until that stage the clubs had battled to a 1 to 1 deadlock as the result of a pair of rouges. As a result of their victory the Royal City lads take a five-point lead into the second game of the home-and-home series to be played under the floodlights at Vancouver on October 4. The winner of the series will meet the victor in the Meralomas-V.A.C. play-off at another home-and-home affair.

The game over loudspeakers, Manager Ken Seac of the Victoria squad and Ernie Cook acted as announcers.

It was a typical first game of the season. Both teams were guilty of many fumbles, and as a result intended plays were ruined. Victoria's line after holding up well for three quarters opened badly in the final period, and the new Westminster huskies found little trouble in crashing through for healthy yardage gains. Only two good broken field runs were seen during the afternoon, Imrie getting away in the second quarter, to tear off twenty-five yards for Victoria before he was pulled down, and Jacks making a brilliant weaving run for forty yards for the visitors in the third canto.

Victoria's usual deadly aerial attack failed to function on Saturday. Gribble and Rogers between them threw nine forward passes, but none of them were completed. New Westminster attempted only one forward pass, in the third quarter, and it was battered down. In former seasons the forward pass has always been a feature of the Victoria team's play, and no doubt before the season ends this fan-pleasing style of play will be functioning again.

NO ALIBIS
The locals had no alibis. They had just as many chances to put over a victory as New Westminster. Their greatest weakness was the absence of a good line backer. Nobody seemed able to make any progress through the middle of the New Westminster line, and it was battered down. Victoria had a young and green squad, the showing on Saturday was everything that could be desired. The last quarter was a standard of style of game and whenever the ball was at all close to their goal line, they depended on kicks to clear rather than action. In the first quarter line backs were sent to the goal line to clear the end zone and end with neither club appearing dangerous. Gribble attacked three forward passes for Victoria but all were knocked down before reaching their objectives. New Westminster was in possession of the ball on their own ten-yard line at the end of the quarter. With the opening of the second quarter Simpson kicked to the fifty-yard line. Victoria's first down Gribble tried to break through the Victoria line but it was knocked down. Gribble finally kicked and Simpson retaliated on New Westminster's first down. Imrie received and Victoria was awarded ten yards when he was not given the necessary five yards.

Victoria lost the ball again on a fumble and on two plunges through the center of the line Henderson made yards for New Westminster. On the next play, the visitors fumbled and Victoria gained possession. Swanson, New Westminster, was sent off for three minutes for tripping. Rogers threw a beautiful forward pass with Latta as the receiver but the former just missed gathering in the ball. On the next down Imrie broke in the clear and gained twenty-five yards for Victoria. The next play was low but Latta pulled down a New Westminster backfield man behind his line for a rouge and one point.

Jack's forty-yard broken-field run for New Westminster to put the ball on Victoria's twenty-yard line. After two unsuccessful line bucks Simpson tried a place kick, but it was wide and went for a rouge when Gribble was pulled down, tying the score. New Westminster nearly got another point near the end of the quarter on another kick by Simpson but Latta and Imrie combined nicely to get the ball over their goal line.

Dorothy Round Takes Women's Crown; Vines Figure in Two Doubles Wins

Los Angeles, Sept. 25.—Fred Perry, J. Perry, British Davis Cup star, today had added the Pacific Southwest tennis championship to the string of court laurels he has gained this year.

Standing on the baseline through the greater part of his match on Saturday with Jiro Satoh, Perry displayed a consistency of shots the out-studied even that style of game. Perry won after a four-set duel, 6-4, 1-6, 6-3, 7-5.

Miss Round, accurate with her drives, spent most of the match on the baseline, waiting the opportunity to force her opponent into errors.

After he had taped his ankle in a locker room, Perry came back to play the mixed doubles final with M. Round and was party to a sound win, 6-1, 6-2, by Elsworth Vines, Pasadena, and Miss Elizabeth Ryan, England.

Lester Stofen and Ellsworth Vines won the men's doubles championship, 6-2, 6-4, over John Van Rensselaer, Philadelphia, and Gerald Stratton, San Francisco. The score was 6-2, 6-3, 6-4.

South African In Great Debut For Liverpool Eleven

Nieuwenhuys Turns in Clever Performance to Help De-feat Tottenham 3 to 0

Upsets Shuffle Leaders Around

50,000 See Everton Take Arsenal; Dean Maintains Scoring Record But Is Hurt

London, Sept. 25.—Heavy rains which softened the grounds made a welcome change for soccer players Saturday, but they were also partly responsible for many upsets. The first three teams in both the first and second divisions of the English League were beaten, and to-day Portsmouth and Blackburn Rovers shared leadership in the first division. In the second, a four-cornered tie for leadership was brought about by Saturday's fixtures.

Tottenham Hotspurs' triumphant progress was finally halted by Liverpool, who eleven included three South African players, and the Spurs were left in a deadlock with second place.

Others for third place in the first division, travelling to the Spurs' own grounds, Liverpool defeated them 3 to 0.

After eight thrilling minutes, Liverpool broke away, English scoring Hodgson narrowly missed a fast low drive and the score was 1 to 0 at half-time.

Nieuwenhuys, making a fine debut for Liverpool, passed across to Hanson at left wing, and the latter scored, while Liverpool's third tally came on another of the South African's admirable centres to English.

Everton superior.

The Arsenal, travelling to Everton, were left in a deadlock with second place.

A crowd of 50,000 saw a fast and exciting encounter in which Everton proved definitely superior, penning the Arsenal in the centre half of the field much of the time.

Dean scored in the sixth minute to maintain his record of a goal a match, and White scored after Everton's third goal, while the victory put them in eleventh position on goal average.

Portsmouth well deserved their 1 to 0 win at Sheffield United, ground where they put them in a tie for first place.

Rutherford's goal in the first half proved sufficient to carry them to the top of the table on average.

Blackburn Rovers got into the first run with Portsmouth by a 3 to 1 victory over Sheffield Wednesday.

Preston North End lost their leadership in the second division, ground where they were routed 6 to 0 by West Ham United on the latter's grounds.

West Ham's hitherto wet attack was splendidly adapted to the wet turf and grassy bank and they got five goals within twenty-three minutes.

On points, Preston remained in a tie with Port Vale, Bolton Wanderers and Fulham for the second division leadership, but the Lancashire lads looked bad in their fixture with West Ham.

Millwall, way down in the table, scored a surprising success over Southampton, and they got five goals within twenty-three minutes.

Chicago Activity Causes Wheat Rise On Winnipeg Mart

Winnipeg, Sept. 25.—Bullish enthusiasm which swept Chicago market in the late stages made itself felt on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange to-day. Wheat prices rose from fractionally low levels to close 1/2 cent higher to 1/2 cent under the previous finish.

Offerings were extremely light most of the day. Hedging sales exerted little pressure on the market, and though support was also on the light side, values held at levels fractionally under the previous close.

At the low points values were one cent down, but this decline was scored near the opening, and as offerings dried up prices steadied and held quite firm, though Chicago market remained a bearish influence.

No export business materialized over the week-end. Liverpool wheat closed easy, 1/2-3/4 lower, in sympathy with weakness in North American markets.

Buenos Aires opened 1 1/2-3/4 cents off. Cash wheat prices were fractionally off in sympathy with wheat.

RALLY AT CLOSE

Chicago, Sept. 25 (Associated Press).—Grain values rallied at the last today, although disappointment of traders who had looked for fresh stimulating business factors had served to pull values downward most of the time earlier.

Aggregate dealings in grain, however, were not large.

Wheat closed firm, at the same as Saturday's finish to 1/2 cent higher, corn 1/2 cent higher, and provisions varying from 1/2 cent decline to a rise of 5c.

New Securities Act May Hinder Flotation of Canadian Bonds in America

New York, Sept. 25.—Financial underwriters of New York were said today to be considering drawing to the attention of Washington the manner in which the new Securities Act might hinder flotation of Canadian bonds in this country.

In this connection, the New York Herald-Tribune to-day said:

"Underwriters of the highest type of securities here are much concerned currently over the effect of the act on a refunding operation in which the Dominion of Canada soon will engage."

"The Canadian government faces a maturity of $109,971,800 in 5 1/2 per cent bonds on November 1, and there has already been much conjecture on both sides of the border regarding the possibility of the securities act showing that the government is unable to register the new bonds under the act."

BETTER FEELING IN CATTLE MART

Ottawa, Sept. 25.—The feeling was a little better in the cattle markets this week, and chances seemed to be easier to effect, stated the Livestock Review, issued yesterday by the Dominion Department of Agriculture.

The recent liberal rainfall in the western provinces have given substantial relief to the producer, and the danger of heavy forced liquidation has been lessened.

Winnipeg cattle market, aided by favorable conditions in the country, had another well regulated run, and a good cleanup. Top cattle made $4.50.

Calgary was moderately active with nothing above $3. Edmonton had an active trade on all good quality light weights, but others were hard to move. The top price on butcher cattle was $3.25.

The total exports of cattle to Great Britain to date has now reached 36,676 head, with an additional 463 due to leave Montreal to-day. This compares with a total of 16,093 head in 1932.

Winnipeg bacon market lost ground, bacons closing at $6.10, and W. Calgary hogs were closing at $5.75 for bacon. Edmonton closed at $5.75. Prince Albert was down 15c, with the closing quotation at $5.90, while Saskatoon finished the week at the margin price. Selects made $1 per head premium at all markets.

Can Marriage Succeed on Love Alone? Dorothy Dix Thinks Thought and Effort Needed, Too

Love Alone Won't Make Marriage a Success; Love Can Be Cruel, and It Can Be the Most Selfish Thing on Earth, and Even the Finest Love Can't Make Marriage to the Wrong Person Happy

A YOUNG girl said to me the other day: "Love is the only thing that matters in marriage. I think that if a man and woman love each other they will always be happy together and their marriage will be a success, don't you?"

"No, I don't," I replied. "Love alone is no guarantee of happiness or success in marriage, for love isn't always kind or even livable. Some of the most grinding domestic tyrants of the world fairly worship the husbands and wives they victimize."

"Of course, love is essential to a happy and successful marriage. It is the bread and nectar of life without which we perish of hunger and thirst. Every heart cries out for its mate, that mysterious someone that, for some strange reason that we cannot explain even to ourselves, we set our affections upon and who answers every need of our souls and bodies."

"Without love marriage is clinders, ashes and dust, no matter if the man and woman bring to it virtue and loyalty and respect and consideration for each other and every high moral quality. A home without the flame of love burning on the altar is no more than a place where people eat and sleep, though it be a palace. It takes love to glid the chains that bind a man and woman together. It takes love to blind a man and woman to each other's faults, or make them see them as just interesting peculiarities because they are each other's."

"It takes love to take the bitterness out of the sacrifices that every husband and wife must make and make them sweet. It takes love to keep a man and woman perpetually interested in each other and keep them from getting on each other's nerves."

"But just love alone won't make marriage a success. It isn't enough just by itself. It takes a lot of things besides love to make a go of marriage and trying to run one on love alone is like trying to build a house without a foundation, or run a business on hot air. It is bound to end in a crash."

"It is because women are sold on this idea that love is everything, and that if they love their husbands enough it doesn't matter how they treat them that causes them to make the mistakes that wreck their marriages so often. Why, the very things that women do that kill their husbands' love and drive their husbands from them are nearly always inspired by love."

"For what is the jealousy that causes a woman to make scenes if her husband so much as speaks to another woman but the love that cannot endure even the suggestion that he could have eyes for any other woman but herself or find interest and amusement in any other woman's society."

"What is the nagging that torments a man half to death and that puts him through a questioning that is like being grilled by the third degree, except that it makes her die a thousand deaths feeling that he might be a better man if he were a different man? It is love that makes her do it, and that makes the simplest act of his daily life more interesting and more important to her than the upheaval of a continent or the downfall of a nation would be."

"And what is the wife's denial of every particle of personal freedom to her husband, her tagging him and never being willing for him to go off anywhere alone; her not being willing for him even to read his paper of an evening because it takes his attention from her, but the love that can never get enough of his society, the love that cannot be satisfied without monopolizing him?"

"Love can be cruel and it can be the most selfish thing on earth. Nor can it be depended upon to last. It can sicken and die of neglect. It can be slain by jar and fret and squalid squabbles."

"It can fade away and vanish as imperceptibly as the dew on the grass in the morning through the changes that time makes in a character. The man and woman who in their youth were ardent lovers may find that at middle age they have simply lost their taste for each other and have not a single thought or interest in common."

"And so just love isn't enough to marry on, for marriage isn't merely a sentimental journey on which you are sure to have a grand and glorious time just because you are enamored of your traveling companion. It is a business partnership in which two people are investing their whole present and future well being, and whether it prospers or fails depends upon their putting their backs into it as well as their hearts."

"The success of a marriage depends not only upon a young couple being in love with each other, but upon their being in love with the right woman and man."

"No amount of loving a nervous, neurotic woman with a temper that is set on a hair-trigger and that goes off if you jar her; no amount of loving an extravagant woman whose bills keep her husband's nose to the grindstone all his life; no amount of loving a woman who is too lazy to make a comfortable home, can make marriage a success to a man. And no amount of loving a drunkard, or a philanderer, or a gambler, or a ne'er-do-well is going to make marriage a success to a woman."

"And so my dear," I said to the girl, "don't delude yourself into thinking that love alone is enough to marry on. It is the main thing of marriage, but not the whole works, and it takes a lot of things besides affection to make the wheels go around smoothly for thirty or forty years of wedlock."

The Earth's Large Cities

VI-PARIS

A few years ago, I prepared a leaflet about Europe, and in it I stated that Eiffel Tower was the tallest structure ever built by man. That statement was true when I wrote the words, but it is not true now. The leaflet has been revised, because new skyscrapers in New York City are taller than the tower in Paris.

Through Paris flows the Seine river, and more than once it has caused damage by rising in flood. Some parts of Paris are less than 100 feet above sea level.

Two thousand years ago there was a village on an island in the Seine, and in the village lived members of a tribe called "Parisii." These people belonged to the race of Gauls, and their relatives lived in many other parts of the country now known as France.

Roman soldiers conquered the Gauls, and a Roman camp was set upon the island in the Seine. From the village and from the Roman camp grew the city of Paris. The island is part of Modern Paris, but only a small part.

The latest figures give Paris a population of 2,991,000.

Paris contains a mighty collection of books, in the National Library ("Bibliothèque Nationale"). This library contains 4,500,000 printed books, besides an immense number of manuscripts, old prints, maps and coins.

During a recent year there were 29,000 students at the University of Paris. This university was founded about 800 years ago.

Except for Eiffel Tower, the tallest buildings in Europe are churches with steeples.

Paris is the home of the Louvre, the most famous art gallery in the world. In the Louvre is the painting called "Mona Lisa," along with hundreds of other pictures by master artists. There are also statues and other relics which date back to the times of ancient Greece, Egypt and Babylon.

An old street in Paris.

Eiffel Tower, however, remains the tallest in Europe. It was built for the Paris exposition held in 1889, and rises to a height of 984 feet. It is still an object of interest to visitors in Paris. When I looked down from a platform near the top of it, the people walking along the streets seemed about the size of dolls.

Tall buildings are not common in Europe. Most countries have laws to limit the height of office buildings.

Death Of Writer's Widow Investigated

Canadian Press
Bath, Eng., Sept. 25.—Authorities today investigated the death yesterday evening of Mrs. A. M. Williamson, widow and collaborator of the noted British novelist.

Mrs. Williamson was discovered unconscious Saturday in a bath room and died after doctors had waged a battle for her life throughout the night and Sunday.

Her husband, with whom she worked on many novels, died in 1920. She had been in poor health for some time, but had been expected to live for some time longer.

British Fleet and Planes Manoeuvre

Airmen Defend Coast of Scotland While Ships Carry Out Sham Raids

By Thomas T. Champion, Canadian Press Staff Writer

London, Sept. 25.—The elaborate engagement between the Home Fleet and the air defence forces staged over the week-end on the Scottish coast ended indecisively.

The operations undoubtedly yielded plenty of material on which the experts may employ themselves in the secrecy of the Admiralty offices, but it is acknowledged the artificiality of the exercises forbids drawing any immediate conclusions as to the respective merits of the contending forces.

The fleet was supposed to be raiding the town of Elie on the east coast, and it was up to an Air Force squadron from the land to repel the invaders. The operations were conducted entirely in daylight hours, but actually the experience of English coastal towns in the Great War was the raiders always approached in darkness.

AIRCRAFT CARRIERS
An interesting point on which no official enlightenment is given is how the big aircraft carriers, Furious and Courageous, fared when they were attacked by the land machines. Those vessels are ostensibly the easiest prey of all, being lightly armed and designed wholly for the carriage and care of air fleets. Yet while the capital ships are deemed to have "suffered" severely, there is no admission the aircraft carriers were even threatened.

The exercises were of especial value to the Air Force defenders, who were required to make long reconnaissance flights over water.

Forty-eight French-Canadian priests and nuns from eastern Canada, chiefly Montreal, who were visitors in Victoria for a few hours Saturday afternoon, were met here by representatives of St. Ann's Academy and St. Andrew's Cathedral. The missionaries arrived from Vancouver by the Ss. Empress of Asia and had two hours in Victoria before proceeding to sea, en route to the Orient.

Mother Mary Dorothea, mother superior of the Order of St. Ann's, was accompanied by Sister Mary Leopoldine, head of the Order in British Columbia, met the missionaries sisters here and took the heads of the party for a drive about Victoria.

Rev. Father C. E. Evans, rector of St. Andrew's Cathedral, took Monsignor Roy and several of the priests up-town for a brief visit before the Empress sailed.

The party which sailed for the Orient Saturday was one of the largest single missionary groups to ever pass through Victoria. At Yokohama next week the members of the party will scatter, the nuns remaining in Japan and Shanghai and the priests going far inland, to Manchuria and Jehol.

NEW SHIP FOR PACIFIC RUN

Ms. Washington Express Sails From Sweden to Pick Up Cargo in Northwest

Seattle, Sept. 25.—Bound for Seattle, the Ss. Washington Express, the first ship of the new Fruit Express Line, which is to operate a fleet of refrigerated carriers from Pacific Coast ports to the United Kingdom and continental Europe, was posted to sail from Gothenburg, Sweden, today.

Commanded by Capt. Arthur M. Andersen, the vessel was to head for the coast from Gothenburg after her first voyage and speed tests. She is due in Seattle in October to load apples and pears for the United Kingdom and continental Europe.

Bjorn Blomstrand of the Bjorn Blomstrand Company, owner of the Washington Express and two sister ships to be operated in the new Fruit Express Line, will arrive in Seattle October 10 from Europe via New York and will make a survey of business conditions on this coast.

The International Pacific Coast Corporation of Seattle, of which J. A. Smith is president and P. G. Ewing, vice-president and general manager, is general Pacific Coast agent for the Fruit Express Line. Capt. P. S. Selbach is owners' Pacific Coast representative with headquarters in Seattle.

Christened by Mrs. Bjorn Blomstrand, mother of the head of the Bjorn Blomstrand Company, the Washington Express was launched from the Gotaverken Shipyard in Gothenburg, August 29. She is 351 feet long over all with a beam of forty-seven feet. The vessel is a twin-screw ship propelled by twin engines each of 2,550 horsepower and has space for 90,000 boxes of fruit.

The Oregon Express and the California Express will follow the Washington Express in the new service.

President Jefferson May Be Late Arriving To-morrow; Canada Due Saturday

The inbound liner President Jefferson, due here in the morning from the Orient, is battling the first ocean storms of the autumn season and may arrive several hours behind schedule, according to word received in Victoria this morning from Capt. Alvin O. Lustie, master of the ship.

The Jefferson was originally due at William Head at 2 o'clock in the morning but it will probably be several hours later before she reaches the station, on her way into Victoria.

For this port the President Jefferson has several passengers and 200 tons of general cargo, including 300 bales of raw silk for transfer here to the Ss. H. P. Alexander, en route via the Panama Canal to New York.

It will probably be Saturday morning before the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Canada arrives here from the Orient, and Honolulu.

The Empress of Canada was scheduled to arrive here Wednesday, but her return to Japan, when 500 miles out from Yokohama last week, has delayed the ship. She reached Honolulu this morning.

Bound for Victoria and Vancouver, the Canadian liner Empress of Japan is now steaming between Suva and Honolulu. She will reach the Hawaiian port on Friday and is scheduled to arrive in Victoria October 5 or 6.

His Highness the Maharajah Gokarwar of Baroda, seventh wealthiest man in the world, and spiritual and temporal leader of 3,500,000 Hindus and Moslems, arrived from Victoria Saturday evening at 7 o'clock aboard the Ss. Empress of Asia, bound for Hong Kong, where he will board another ship for his home in India, thus completing a voyage around the world.

The Gokarwar was met here upon the arrival of the Empress from Vancouver by Brigadier J. Sutherland Brown, retired officer commanding Work Point Barracks, who represented the Lieutenant Governor, who was absent from the city. With him the distinguished visitor from India was taken around the Marine Drive and later to Government House for tea. He then returned to the Asia. Next he comes to North America, he said, he will arrange to have a few days in Victoria.

Seventy years of age, and a ruler of his peoples for fifty-eight years, the Gokarwar was clad in a neat business suit. Although a powerful potentate in his own domains, and revered by millions, he prefers to travel as an ordinary individual and appeared as any other Oriental business man when he stepped off the Empress of Asia here.

On the way over from Vancouver the Maharajah spoke briefly of the recent Religious Parliament, which he attended in Vancouver.

"You ask its significance," he said. "Perhaps its only significance was that we of different faiths learned a little bit more of each other. After all, what difference does it make what religion a man holds so long as he is a good citizen. Perhaps all of us are tied down by old superstitions and ignorance; perhaps, as we learn more of each other we shall be more tolerant of other religions. Reincarnation? Well, who knows?"

MANY VARIANCES
On the proposed new constitution in India he would speak only briefly. "You must remember that I am not still in the making," he said. "We must do what we think best for our people. Remember, it is a very large country, and different parts naturally have different problems and different interests. Some control a few villages, others vast territories."

"Our people," he continued, "have felt the depression, particularly my own people, who are a commercial race. I do not think, however, that the ordinary people are oppressed. What conditions are they are on this continent. Perhaps," he said, "it is because the standard of living is so different."

His Highness met Lieut. Governor Johnson at Harrison Hot Springs on Friday.
